The roots of the Peabody Essex Museum date to the 1799 founding of the East India Marine Society, an organization of Salem captains and supercargoes who had sailed beyond either the Cape of Good Hope or Cape Horn. The society's charter included a provision for the establishment of a "cabinet of natural and artificial curiosities," which is what we today would call a museum. Society members brought to Salem a diverse collection of objects from the northwest coast of America, Asia, Africa, Oceania, India and elsewhere. By 1825, the society moved into its own building, East India Marine Hall, which today contains the original display cases and some of the very first objects collected.

All visitors enter our building through our Bear Shop, which features our Bears, Vermont-made products, and an area where you can create your own Bear. You'll want to take a tour of our factory, with one of our Bear Ambassadors who will guide you through a fun, informative tour where you'll watch our small group of craftspeople creating our Bears by hand, one-by-one. You'll even see our Bear Hospital, where you'll get to meet our Bear Doctor, Dr. Nancy. If your Bear ever needs repair, Dr. Nancy will take care of everything.
